

Jesús Feliciano

Filmmaker | Writer, Director, Producer

At 17, Jesús got sponsored by Puerto Rico's Film Commission and enrolled in a summer-long workshop. He completed a BFA in Film & Television Production at the University of Puerto Rico (Río Piedras Campus), complemented with online classes from one of the Top 3 film programs in the world: UCLA. Then, he moved to Chicago pursuing a MFA in Cinema with Directing Concentration at DePaul University, a film school ranked among the Top 30 worldwide as voted by The Hollywood Reporter. He has directed music videos, social media content, and short films; as well as podcast interviews to the biggest names in the music industry: Gilberto Santa Rosa, Víctor Manuelle, Vico C, Farruko, Tito "El Bambino", La Burbu, and many more. His next goal? Directing his first feature-length movie.
